Hon. Mr. Massey to Be Commissioner to British Metropolis

Prime Minister Mackenzie King Made Announcement of Appointment in House of Commons Last Night—Probably To Go to London in September in Time for Imperial Conference

Minister's Services Lauded in Commons by the Premier

(Canadian Press)
OTTAWA, May 2.—It is the intention of the Government to appoint Hon. Vincent Massey as Canadian High Commissioner at London. An announcement to this effect was made tonight by Premier Mackenzie King. Mr. Massey will remain at Washington, where he is now Canadian Minister Plenipotentiary, until the summer vacation, probably July. He will go to London about September 1 to be in readiness for the Imperial and Economic Conference, which opens September 26.

HIGH POSITION
The post of High Commissioner at London is considered the ranking position in the Canadian diplomatic service and the promotion of Hon. Vincent Massey is a recognition of the success with which he has represented this country in Washington.

The appointment of Mr. Massey's successor at Washington probably will not be made effective until autumn, although the Government's selection probably will be made known before that.

In the transfer of diplomatic representatives from one capital to another, it is the usual custom of governments to indicate such intention some time before the actual transfer takes place. Mr. Hume Wrong, charge d'affaires at Washington, will have charge of the embassy there between the time Mr. Massey leaves and his successor is appointed.

PAYS MINISTER TRIBUTE
In making the announcement tonight, Premier King paid a tribute to the distinguished way in which Mr. Massey had performed the duties as Canada's representative in Washington.

He was confident Mr. Massey's intimate knowledge of the British States affairs would be most helpful in serving not only Canadian but British interests in London. Mr. Massey will succeed the late Hon. Peter Larkin, who died in London recently. He was appointed to the Washington post in 1926 and took over his duties in February, 1927. He was the first Canadian minister in a foreign capital.

MONTREAL, Que., May 2.—With members of the city's judicial and local life and representatives of church and state in attendance, the funeral service of Mr. Eugene Lafleur, K.C., was held in St. Joseph's Cathedral here today. All Montreal courts were adjourned for the day as a mark of respect.

Twenty-Three Die When Disastrous Winds Sweep Great Swaths in Nine States

PROPERTY DAMAGE REPORTED GREAT

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 2.—Scenes of devastation today marked the path of the tornadoes and storms which swept over nine states of the Middle West Thursday, leaving twenty-three persons dead and scores more injured and homeless.

The whirling black funnels of the tornadoes dipped to four widely-separated places—Tekamah, Nebraska; Westby, Wis.; Norborne, Mo.; and Russell, Iowa—and cyclonic winds dealt death elsewhere in the affected area.

Property damage, it was estimated, ran into seven figures.

HEAVY DEATH TOLL

Tekamah, Nebraska, had four dead; Norborne, Mo., five; Russell, Iowa, one; Westby, Wis., one; Lake City, Minn., three; Duluth, Minn., two; Kickapoo, Kas., two; Lawton, N.D., one; Rockford, Ill., one; Galesburg, Ill., one; Chicago, one; and Antioch, Ill., one.

Nine of the dead were women. Livestock was lost, crops were damaged, and few villages in the area escaped. Nebraska, Minnesota, Northeast Kansas and Northwest Missouri were hardest hit by the erratic storms, but high winds, driving rain and lightning distributed destruction also over Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois and the Dakotas.

The Tekamah tornado cut a wide stretch through the city to kill four and leave the streets choked with debris. Darkness followed with the failure of the electric light plant. Physicians and rescue workers toiled by candlelight and flashlights. Jackson and Homer, Nebraska, also were struck by the tornado.

New Vessel Arrives To Enter Night Run Between Two Cities

THE Princess Elizabeth, of the British Columbia Coast Steamship Service, will arrive here this morning from Scotland, where she was built in the yards of the Fairfield Shipbuilding & Engineering Works, on the Clyde. The vessel has been specially constructed for the night service between Vancouver and Victoria, and will be used also to supplement the service maintained between Vancouver and Nanaimo. These services will be shared with the sister ship, Princess Joan, which reported at Curacao, in the Dutch West Indies, yesterday.

Captain C. C. Saintry has brought the vessel out, his long experience being such as to fit him for the long voyage by way of the Panama Canal.

STEADY GROWTH
The Princess Elizabeth is the fifth new vessel with which the Princess fleet has been augmented in recent years, the Princess Kathleen and Marguerite following one another to the Coast in 1925, and since then the Princess Elaine has been built for the Vancouver-Nanaimo run and the Princess Norah for the West Coast route. The company has also purchased a freight steamer, the Nootka, for the West Coast plying business.

The ship is expected to arrive soon after 8 o'clock, and for the purpose of meeting her a special sailing of the Salvage King will be made with steamship officials, customs and immigration men on board, which will leave for William Head at 9 o'clock.

The city, through Mayor Anson, will present a Union Jack to the master on arrival. The Elizabeth is expected to come alongside about 10:30 at the Belleville Street docks.

SPECIAL SPECIFICATIONS
Launched at Govan, on the Clyde, on January 16, the Princess Elizabeth made seventeen knots on her trial voyage. She is 251 feet long, fifty-two feet in beam, and has a depth of nineteen feet to the main deck, and is a twin-screw craft.

Her night accommodations are 435 berths with public rooms and deck space for 1,500 day travelers. The Fairfield Shipbuilding & Engineering Company built the ship at a cost of $230,000.

TO CARRY CARS
Special provision has been made for automobiles on the main deck, to carry fifty at a sailing. The extreme speed guaranteed is sixteen knots, and the capacity is set at 900 long tons deadweight.

A feature of the ship is the large number (twenty-eight in all) of rooms for the boat deck with bedrooms, bath and toilet accommodation. There are eight de luxe cabins through each ship.

An elevator is installed for convenience of passengers. An interesting feature of the ships will be sleeping accommodation of every class, for an innovation in the design is a dormitory where cheap berths can be supplied at a nominal figure within the range of all pockets.

The vessel is operated by oil fuel.

Paisley Theatre Manager Is Free On Charges Laid

EDINBURGH, Scotland, May 2.—Charles Dorrard, manager of the Paisley Cinema Theatre, in which seventy children died after a fire panic New Year's Eve, today was found not guilty of culpable homicide in connection with the deaths.

The trial began Tuesday. Prosecution charged Dorrard had obstructed one of two exits by padlocking an iron gate.

The theatre manager asserted he had unlocked the gate and left the padlock on a post. He added that he had pushed the gate all the way back, leaving the way open, before the flames started. When he was in his office, he continued, a boy came in and told him that a fire had broken out.

"I entered the theatre, where the children apparently were growing restless. I told them everything was all right and to sit still. A boy then shouted 'fire,' and immediately the children rose like a flock of sheep and dashed to the exits. I was powerless."

The fire started when a film became ignited.

Expectations Among Well-informed Indians Are That Gandhi Will Be Taken at Once

PESHAWAR AREA IS APPARENTLY QUIET

(Associated Press)

BOMBAY, May 2.—While Mahatma Gandhi was making known today the conditions under which he will agree to lead his civil resistance campaign into the city of Bombay, all India awaited tensely the arrest of "The Holy Man," which usually well-informed persons continued to insist must occur before another day has elapsed.

CONDITIONS ANNOUNCED
Conditions which the venerable leader announced he would exact from followers as the price for continuing into the city were printed today by the Bombay Congress Bulletin, an unregistered sheet published daily by the Bombay Provincial Congress Committee. The conditions comprise:

Observance of complete discipline, a permanent pledge to use no hand-spun khaddar and actual spinning with "takli," a miniature spinning wheel, for one hour daily.

"If Bombay produces 100,000 such men," the manifesto of Mahatma Gandhi concluded, "I should lead."

Kill First Whale on May First

(Associated Press)

PORT BARROW, Alaska, May 2.—Point Barrow celebrated May Day by catching its first whale of the season. A bomb from a huge "shooter" gun killed the sea animal and several hours later a signal flag was seen waving at the lucky camp, five miles out on the ocean ice from here, where the whale was landed.

Immediately natives started for the camp, and soon a string of dog teams about a mile long was winding serpent-like around bergs to the site. Although a small whale, with a three-foot whalebone, the animal will provide several tons of meat and excellent fuel for the natives. Its black skin, about an inch thick, and called "muktuk," is the chief delicacy of the Eskimo cuisine.

Natives labored half a day bringing the whale to the mainland.

Mr. D. B. Plunkett Pleads Postal Workers' Cause

OTTAWA, May 2.—Speaking to the Postmaster-General's estimates in the House of Commons tonight, Mr. D. B. Plunkett, Victoria, B.C., said: "I wish to add a word to what has just been said. It is strange that this readjustment of salaries should have had to be asked for during several consecutive sessions."

"When we consider the responsibilities of the postal workers and the character of the service they render, it is fair to ask them to work for $90 or less a month? They are looked upon in every home in Canada as messengers of good will. They bear tidings sometimes of joy and some times of regret. Why should the House demur to the proposal that at least $100 a month be paid to the postal employees? I am not going to ask the House to compare them with United States postal employees, because if I did, the Prime Minister would say, 'We turn to Westminster and not to Washington.'"

"But I submit that they are underpaid: they are certainly inadequately paid for the work they do and the responsibility they have to assume. I wish to concur in the sentiments expressed by honorable members who have spoken in this connection. We should raise the minimum salary for the postal workers to $100 a month. I hope the Postmaster-General will consider the matter, and I can assure him he will have my endorsement and vote in regard to any measures taken to accomplish that end."

Budget Does Little For Britain While Less for Dominion

Close Study of Budget Leads to Realization That Effects in Many Cases Will Not be as Claimed—Strong Attacks Likely From Conservatives as Not Being Sound Canadian Policy

Dissolution Expected to Come From New Proposals

DAILY COLONIST OTTAWA CORRESPONDENT

OTTAWA, May 2.—Both Conservatives and Progressives are busy studying the new tariff schedules, and by Tuesday they will have a good conception of how far the proposals justify the professed expectations of the Government. Liberal members are not so interested, accepting the declarations in the budget speech without question, although many have been placed in an embarrassing political situation by the proposals.

In addition to the effect on trade, members are equally interested on the effect on the life of the present session. It is believed the Government will await the reaction from the country, and if favorable will dissolve Parliament before adopting the budget. If the sentiment develops otherwise there will be no election and Parliament will be in session late in July, as it will take at least two months to give consideration and approval to the 500 different items.

CONSERVATIVE CAUCUS

There was a Conservative caucus this morning at which the budget was discussed and there was unanimity that it would fail of its purpose, either economic or political, and they would willingly have an expression of the people as soon as possible. Hon. R. B. Bennett was not present, being in Montreal at the funeral of Mr. Eugene Lafleur, K.C. He will resume his speech on Tuesday, dealing chiefly with the financial and trade situation, leaving the further discussion of the tariff changes to Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Hon. R. J. Manion, and Hon. J. D. Chaplin, who are studying in detail the new tariff proposals.

It is not expected there will be a Conservative amendment moved until the debate is in progress some time. When it is it will probably condemn the Government for delay in meeting the economic situation, and declare the belated remedies are inadequate and insincere and are based on political expediency, and not the nation's needs. This amendment may be seized upon by the Government for an excuse for dissolution as the Government organ in the capital today advised Premier King to get Mr. Bennett's challenge.

FISHERIES TO BE GIVEN PORTFOLIO

OTTAWA, May 2.—Reorganization of ministries in the Dominion Government was forecast in the House of Commons today by Premier W. L. Mackenzie King. The Department of the Interior, the Prime Minister announced, would be abolished after the return of natural resources to the four Western provinces.

Immigration, the Department of Indian Affairs, and other matters pertaining to Western Canada would be placed under one ministerial head. With the separation of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, dredging now performed by the Department of Public Works and Railways and Canals would be placed under the Department of Marine, in addition to marine work performed by any of the other departments. The proposed new Department of Fisheries would be in complete charge of all fisheries matters.

NUMBER TO BE SAME
The arrangement, Premier King observed, would not involve any increase in the number of ministers, whose numbers would be maintained.

CHERRY CROP MAY BE MUCH LOWER

WALLA WALLA, Wash., May 2.—W. C. Hopson, Umatilla County horticultural agent, today predicted that the Walla Walla Valley cherry crop will be considerably below normal because of severe low temperature of January. The same low temperature, Hopson said, killed many codling moths, giving promise of fewer of the pests in apples.

Hopson estimated the Italian prune tonnage at 1,000 cars, as against 1,500 cars shipped last season.

ADVANTAGES OF STORAGE PLANT ARE DESCRIBED

Messrs. H. G. Brown and W. W. Duncan, Market Commissioner, Visit Courtenay

MEETING ENDORSES SUGGESTIONS MADE

(By Colonist Correspondent)

COURTENAY, May 2.—Farmers of foreign countries are getting rich on the proceeds of produce sold in Canada. Mr. H. G. Brown, of the Victoria Cold Storage & Terminal Warehouse, Ltd., told a combined meeting of the Comox-Courtenay Board of Trade, and the Comox Agricultural Society here tonight. He went exhaustively into the possibilities of modern refrigerating methods, and stated that the canning of vegetables and fruits would soon be a thing of the past.

The Pacific Coast states were shipping considerable quantities of fruits and vegetables to South America and the Orient, Mr. Brown continued, but not one of these states had the facilities for handling farm produce that Victoria now possessed, where fresh fruits and vegetables could be held over the season of winter, preventing dumping at the time of harvest, and be just as fresh as when picked. Samples of corn were exhibited which had been in storage all winter, and was quite fresh.

Mr. Brown paid a tribute to the action of ex-President Coolidge, of the United States, who had set up numerous loan banks for the benefit of the farmers in that country. The industry had enormously increased because of these banks, and this increased production had necessitated the perfection of freezing processes, so that there would be a twelve-month season for the products of the farm.

CO-OPERATION NECESSARY

Mr. Brown asked the farmers of the district to co-operate together and plant a quantity of peas, beans, corn and lettuce. The farmers of Vancouver Island must unite if their efforts to produce are to become successful. If they would do so, it would be possible to sell their produce at a profit.

Produce from Comox could readily be shipped to Victoria. Mr. J. S. H. Matson, of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, was ready to help the farmers get their crops to Victoria, where refrigeration and storage would not exceed 2-3 per cent per month per crate or parcel, he explained.

Mr. W. W. Duncan, market commissioner for the British Columbia Government, advised the meeting to go ahead and increase their production, as Mr. Brown had opened up new possibilities for them. The growers of Vancouver Island had nothing to worry about if they co-operated with the business men. The farmers of Vancouver Island were now paying heavily for lack of co-operation in the past.

Mr. Duncan stressed the importance of a brand. When a brand is once established, and the grade kept up, there will be no incentive for the foreign grower to send his produce to the Canadian market. Mr. Duncan advocated strict grading of all produce for the market, which it would be necessary to maintain, as a market once lost was most difficult to regain. Mr. Duncan offered to take samples of corn grown in the district, freeze it at Victoria and advertise it later for sale in the Comox-Saatchichewen district.

Messrs. J. A. Mooney, general manager of the exhibition, and O. Tice, made a plea for local exhibits to the World's Grain Exhibition at Regina in 1932; and Dr. McTavish, of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, assured the members of the Board of Trade and the Comox Agricultural Society that they would have the support of the Victoria body in any undertaking.

After hearing Messrs. Brown and Duncan, the chairman of the meeting, Mr. Walter McPhee said the district should get behind Mr. Brown's request for vegetables, Victoria being the logical point, as well as for distribution by his Vancouver Island produce. The farmers of the district had a wonderful opportunity, he concluded.

NOVEL OFFER DRAWS HUNDREDS TO USED CAR SALE

Ever Bros. Conclude Tremendous Selling Event Today—Offer 50 Gallons of Gasoline and 1930 Licence Free

Today sees the final hours of a sensational selling of used cars, held by the firm of Ever Bros. Limited, 908 Port Street. This event, which has extended over a period of ten days, has included some of the most interesting buys that have been offered in this city. As an added attraction an offer of fifty gallons of gasoline and a 1930 licence have been given free with each of these reconditioned cars. The last week and a half has seen hundreds of visitors to the premises, eager to examine these values, and in every case there has been the model or price to suit their individual needs. On this, the last day, the remaining cars have again been carefully checked and a new low price set that demands attention. A complete clearance has been the aim of the management, and their ambition has nearly been achieved. The old problem in the motor car history, that of the crying need for floor space to accommodate the influx of new cars, has dictated these exceptionally low prices on the second-hand machines, and those who take advantage of this chance are assured of a real bargain. That Victorians have not been slow in responding to this opportunity has been evident in the daily necessity of revising the lists of cars offered, substituting fresh values for those disposed of during the day.

Niagara Peninsula will arrive Tuesday, if the Government will receive them, to protest against the almost free entry of United States grapes through a subterfuge. They have repeatedly protested without avail, and the new budget carries no relief. These grapes are crushed in the United States and brought into Canada in the form of grape tanks to be used by the wineries. By simply crushing them nearly all the present duty on grapes is evaded.

Depositions are expected from other industries that have been neglected or impaired in the proposed tariff schedules. It is quite possible the Government may not receive these protests, claiming they had been, or should have been, made to the tariff board.

LITTLE FOR BRITAIN

At present criticism is generally directed against the contention that the tariff changes will do much to increase British exports to Canada. Many of the items, in fact, scores of them, mean nothing to British trade. Agricultural implements, sewing machines, books and many other articles either not made in Britain or not exported here.

Stress is laid on the changes in the steel schedules, which benefit the British iron and steel producers at the expense of the United States. It is also claimed Canadian producers will benefit. In the Conservative party, by those interested in the iron and steel trade, it is contended the proposed changes will not affect this trade as the duties against the United States products is not sufficient to give the British an adequate preference or Canadian adequate protection.

CANADIAN INDUSTRIES

But the major Conservative criticism will be that the tariff proposals do nothing for Canadian industry, or in reality it is not a Canadian budget. It will be contended that Canadian interests should be considered first in framing a budget, the Empire economic and the rest of the world considered in the light of how the several foreign countries consider trade with Canada. Undoubtedly the sentiment in the Conservative party is for the economic policy of "Canada first."

Fear is expressed for the future of many Canadian industries, as there has not been a period in many years when production was so restricted and foreign competition so keen. It is especially true of industries which are based chiefly on iron and steel as raw material. It is felt that if there is an increase in the cost of iron and steel such industries will be seriously affected.

LIBERALS EMBARRASSED

Many Liberal members, both from Ontario and the Prairies have been embarrassed by the new budget. Last session they declared no further protection was needed on butter, eggs, fruit and vegetables. Now the House has been in session this year, these members, having at meetings ridiculed the idea of giving additional protection to these agricultural products. Now it has been done and they must vote for it.

It is dawned on Western Liberals that they live in a perilous position. They opposed protection to the farmer and now find they must not only vote for this, but also for protection to the iron and steel industry. If, on examination, it is found the British preference proposals are ineffective, Hon. C. A. Dunning, Hon. Charles Stewart, Hon. W. R. Motherwell and Hon. T. A. Crerar, with other Western Liberals, are in grave danger of being branded as traitors to the farmer and the iron and steel industry.

LITTLE RESPONSE

Commenting on this pronouncement, the Congress Bulletin, under the heading "The Call of Mother India," says: "The number of satyagrahis registered up to today at the Bombay Provincial Congress Committee is 2,443. The Mahatma wants 200,000."

TRANSFER OF TRADE

How far there will be a transfer of trade is also being carefully considered. Canada imports nearly $200,000,000 worth of goods from the United States annually. Even if the new tariff proposals are partially effective it is doubtful if this trade will be reduced 2 per cent. It may decline through business conditions, but not through the tariff as amended. Even the most enthusiastic supporter of the budget does not believe it will add $10,000,000 to British exports to Canada, as far as Canadian production is concerned, there is little in the budget to stimulate this.

FRENCH BUDGET IS BIGGEST YET

With Increase of Prosperity of Country, Period of Tax Deflation is to Commence

(Associated Press)
PARIS, May 2.—France has a round $2,000,000,000 budget this year, the biggest it has ever had if war expenses are excepted. In France this is 50,398,159,195, which figures roughly as $50 for each of the 40,000,000 people. This is about one-third more than the per capita expense of the United States Government. Half the French expense, however, is for war debts and reconstruction.

This big budget was adopted after several months of wrangling. Although it is the largest and is the gold value of pre-war budgets, it marks the beginning of taxation deflation. Mr. Raymond Poincare, former Premier, who was called to the rescue of the tumbling franc in 1926, demanded and was given a free hand in finance, and his first act was to load on some more taxes and chop off a lot of expenses. Until this year there have been no tax decreases, but now the burden is beginning to be lightened. Lower taxes probably will bring more revenue because the country is prosperous.

Shingles, Lumber and Logs Restored to Free List After Bitter Fight in Senate

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 2.—Long controversy over a higher sugar tariff was terminated today as the House, when a rate-slashing rampage climaxed an eight-hour session, by voting to accept the lower Senate levy of two cents a pound on Cuban sugar.

Given an opportunity to vote on individual rates for the first time, the House also rejected the Senate silver duty and eliminated virtually all duties carried in either bill on logs, lumber, and shingles.

The Senate's duty of $1.50 a thousand board feet of fir, spruce, pine, hemlock and larch lumber, and railroad ties and telegraph poles of all woods, all of which are now on the free list were restored to the free list.

Shingles, which the House took from the free list and made dutiable at 25 per cent, were restored to the free list as provided by the Senate. Logs of fir, spruce, cedar and Western hemlock, now dutiable at one dollar a thousand board feet, were made free.

Little Ike came up to his father with a very solemn face. "Is it true, father," he asked, "that marriage is a failure?"

His father surveyed him thoughtfully for a moment. "Well, Ike," he finally replied, "if you get a rich wife, it's almost as good as a failure."

REAL ESTATE BODY INSTALLS ITS OFFICERS

Annual Meeting of Organization Welcomes New President and Executive

MAYOR AND REEVES GUESTS OF BOARD

The executive officers of the Real Estate Board of Victoria for 1930-31, were installed at the annual meeting of the board held in Spencer's Dining Room at noon yesterday. Asked to take the chair by the retiring president, Major M. Kirkpatrick-Crockett, newly elected president, announced Mr. H. E. Wilson as first vice-president; Mr. R. Musgrave, second vice-president; Mr. H. Lethaby, secretary by acclamation; Messrs. J. C. Bridgman, F. Landsberg, F. G. Purser and A. R. Wolfenden, executive committee; Messrs. S. G. Clark and Major H. C. Holmes, past presidents, ex officio.

"I am not going to take up your time today in talking, President Kirkpatrick-Crockett said. 'I greatly appreciate the honor of my election, and will have many opportunities of addressing you during the year.'

year. It may seem unique to some to see a civic official associated so intimately with an organization such as the Real Estate Board of Victoria. In fact, it has been openly stated that my duties as president of the board may be the cause of conflict in civic matters." In this connection, Major Kirkpatrick-Crockett stated, there would be no trouble with the council, as he had always found that body ready to give attention to any reasonable request and see fair play in every respect.

GUESTS WELCOMED

The president announced a list of guests, invited by the board to be present, making special reference to Mayor Anson and Reeves Hayward and Crouch, to whom he extended a hearty welcome on behalf of the board.

On rising to reply, Mayor Anson expressed appreciation for the luncheon, the second he had enjoyed with the Real Estate Board since the first of the year. While it was not a great pleasure to be talking so much, he appreciated that the job of mayor made it necessary to talk a lot. He wanted to remove a doubt, he said, which apparently existed in the minds of some people as to the advisability of a civic official being connected with the Real Estate Board. Personally, he was glad to see a civic official with responsibility in connection with civic progress. If big business would follow suit and encourage officials to take an active part in civic affairs, it would result in a good to the community and the state.

He was pleased to see the city of Victoria represented in force at the luncheon, which was as it should be, the city being the largest individual landowner in the city. As he looked around and saw the representatives of neighboring municipalities present, the luncheon could only be likened to a love-feast. There was Reeve Hayward, of Oak Bay, who was building boulevards in his municipality without increasing the mill rate, and Reeve Crouch of Saanich, which municipality, it was rumored, had designs on the city of Victoria.

COMING FOR ADVICE

In concluding, His Worship stated that a little later in the year the city would have matters of importance to deal with, and he was going to come to the Real Estate Board and ask the advice of people who understood the land business, and he felt confident that he would get an appreciative hearing.

Reeve Hayward had been told it would not be necessary to speak when the invitation to attend the luncheon had been extended to him. The reports of the president and the secretary as read was an eye-opener to him. He had not realized the Real Estate Board was the force in the city. In connection with the boulevarding in the municipality, Oak Bay was following the footsteps of Victoria. The people wanted boulevards should pay a portion of their cost, while undeveloped property should be relieved as much as possible.

Reeve Crouch stated that the plot against Victoria would not be hard to carry out. Just as soon as the city reduced its taxes to bring them on an equality with the coming, there was no doubt but what they could meet together. Speaking to the members of the Real Estate Board, the Reeve continued, it was hardly necessary to point out the advantages of low taxes; and he felt confident that the real estate salesmen would have a satisfied customer every time he sold a home in Saanich.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

The report of the secretary contained references to meetings held during the year, the attendance of guests attending, and was full of optimism for the future. The membership was sixty-six, made up of thirty-four active members, twenty-five associate members, and seven in the salesmen's division.

Messrs. Goodlake & Webb were appointed auditors. Two amendments were made to the constitution, one setting the annual fee for members in the salesmen's division at $2, the other permitting affiliated firms, but having no voting power or eligibility for office, for an annual fee of $5.

A letter was read from Alderman J. A. Worthington, chairman of the parks committee, stating that he had been collecting funds for the erection of twelve concrete picnic tables at Beacon Hill Park, for the convenience of families, but lacked $40 to finish the work. He asked the Real Estate Board to assist with a donation. The matter was left to the executive committee with power to act.

Guests invited by the board and present at the luncheon included: Mayor Anson, Reeve Hayward, Reeve Crouch, Mr. H. G. Garrett, Mr. McDonald (city treasurer), Mr. E. C. Smith (city treasurer), Mr. F. Hunter (city clerk), Mr. G. Baxter (secretary to the Mayor), Mr. G. O'Neil (city assessor), Mr. F. Blandy (municipal clerk, Oak

DECLARES BUDGET PURE PROTECTION

Mr. A. E. Darby Maintains Stamp of Safeguarding Is on Mr. Dunning's Proposals

(Canadian Press) WINNIPEG, Man., May 2.—The budget of Hon. C. A. Dunning, self-styled "free trader" Finance Minister for Canada, is "protectionist" in character, according to the opinion of Mr. A. E. Darby, secretary of the Canadian Council of Agriculture.

"Pending examination of the budget in detail," stated Mr. Darby today, "I am driven to the conclusion that this is a protectionist budget."

"The policy of protection is clearly stamped upon it, accompanied by increases of the British preference, the value of which in preventing increases of domestic prices under the operation of the rest of the budget cannot be estimated offhand."

"In particular," stated Mr. Darby, "the new policy of countervailing duties is to be regretted."

"The increase of duties upon farm products contained in the budget must necessarily render it more difficult for agricultural interests to oppose protection for manufacturers."

"The adoption in the budget of the fallacious view that we must necessarily, or can advantageously, buy our imports from the countries to which we sell our exports," concluded the secretary, "is especially regrettable and is at variance with the well-recognized principles on which international trade proceeds."

"Well, Mary, and what progress are you making towards matrimony?" "I think I'm on my last lap."

P.C.E. Starting Railway Work on Lillooet Line

At a cost of at least $500,000, the Pacific Great Eastern Railway will proceed immediately with the diversion of its right-of-way at Lillooet. This work will entail construction of 5.2 miles of railway and a steel span over the Fraser River about two miles north of the Highway Bridge.

This decision of the board of directors was reached after a survey of the situation, and was made to escape necessity of replacing the present bridge at Lillooet. The new work will be of a permanent character.

The new right-of-way will pass through the townsite of Lillooet, and the station and yards will be located in the townsite. At present the line passes one mile away from Lillooet.

The company is calling for tenders for the new grade and span, and it is expected the work will be completed early next year.

MR. P. B. FOWLER

Mr. P. B. Fowler was yesterday re-elected president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at the regular luncheon meeting of the board of directors, held in the chamber cafe.

Mr. R. W. Mayhew was re-elected vice-president. Both elections were unanimous, and were proposed by Mr. B. C. Nicholas and seconded by Mr. J. O. Cameron.

The arbitration committee will include Mr. P. B. Fowler, Mr. R. H. B. Ker, Mr. W. Luney, Mr. G. McGregor, Mr. J. Parfitt and Mr. J. W. Spencer.

PUBLICITY APPROPRIATION The tourist trade group of the chamber recommended that the city increase its appropriation for advertising for tourists, and Mr. H. E. Boorman stressed the fact that, some years ago, business licences were trebled, on the understanding that the appropriation would be used for publicity purposes.

Mr. J. L. Beckwith voiced his opinion regarding the lack of action by the city council, and appointed to interview the city council in the matter of the Clover Point Rifle Range. It was decided that the Chamber of Commerce should urge the Dominion Government to transfer the title of the range to the city of Victoria, with the idea of turning the property into park land.

JUDGMENT HELD IN RATES CASE

Hearing of Application for Lower Rates to Atlantic Port Is Brought to Close

(Canadian Press) OTTAWA, Ont., May 2.—Judgment was reserved today by the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada in the application for a reduced grain freight rate from the lakehead to the Maritime ports of Saint John and Halifax. The application was presented jointly by the Halifax Harbor Commission and the Maritime Board of Trade and called for a rate of 19.34 cents per hundred weight for grain shipped for export over the Northern transcontinental line. The present rate is 35.5 cents a hundred weight.

The case is an aftermath of the successful application of the city of Quebec for a rate of 18.34 cents per hundred weight for that port.

The application was opposed by both the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific Railways on the grounds that the proposed rate would be lower than the actual out-of-pocket cost of hauling the grain. The present rate, it was argued, corresponds with the cost figures, but allows no profit to the railroads.

The arguments of those in favor of the application centered around the claim that the transcontinental line was conceived and constructed fundamentally to provide a means of fostering maritime ports as the exporting centres for the grain trade. Because of the rates, this never has materialized.

CANADA AS A HORRIBLE EXAMPLE

"Be good, or you will go to the bad place!" That is the admonition harassed but gentle mothers used to frighten the black sheep of the family with in the days of long ago. In those days "Bony" and the bad man in the bad place were the chief terrors of the evil-doers. "Bony" of course died many years ago, and the other chap might almost as well be dead, for his influence is no longer potent as a preventive of juvenile misdeeds.

But if the old bad place is no longer any place at all, a substitute has been found for it. The children of larger growth in the United States are being told that Canada is the bad place and that the demon who reigns in it will catch them if they don't watch out. The Demon Rum has entered into the body of Canada, and the children of larger growth who are being told all about Canada's deplorable plight are the Prohibitionists of the United States.

The Prohibitionists of the Eastern United States might never have found out about the desperate condition of Canada if Hon. E. C. Drury, a truly pious man and an unimpeachable authority, had not gone down to Washington and told a strange tale about the wickedness of Canada under the rule of the Demon Rum. Mr. Drury told Washington that Canada is not only going to the dogs because she has cast out Prohibition, but she is going there so fast that before very long her condition will be as bad as the recorded condition of the Gaderene swine. If you are all that you should be, you will remember reading about what happened to the Gaderene swine. After the Demon entered into them, they all rushed down to the water and committed suicide.

The fact seems to be that if you want to get the news, you must go a considerable distance from home to get it. We who stay at home and naturally and physically look at things with restricted vision, simply had not the slightest idea that the condition of Canada was so desperate as described by Mr. E. C. Drury. Most of us who are not even prejudiced imagined that compared with the United States under that cure for all crime, Prohibition, Canada was a law-abiding and very decent country. We do not shoot people who are suspected of carrying flasks in their pockets for purposes of "irrigation." Canada under Government control and sale of liquor is not practically in a state of civil war. Our people are not all under arms and always on the alert lest the other fellow may "get the drop on them."

Our criminal population is not increasing so rapidly that we cannot build penitentiaries and jails fast enough to accommodate them. And yet we have been reading some news published not so very far away from home which made us stop reading for a moment for the purpose of rubbing our eyes. War has broken out in the neighboring State of Washington between the wets and the dries. The dries declare that war must be "to the knife." Probably war to the pistol would be the more correct descriptive phrase. The militant dries further declare they will not rest until they have driven every last wot which is wet out of the State of Washington. If such a calamity should fall upon the unfortunate wets, and they should be driven across the line into the Province of British Columbia, they will find themselves in a place which is even worse than the bad place. For the dries have discovered from either first-hand or second-hand evidence that there is no place in the world in such a deplorable moral and physical state as the Province of British Columbia. The dries have found out that when we, the unfortunate people of British Columbia, abandoned Prohibition and adopted liquor control, we took a very long step towards the bad place, and declare that unless we turn our faces the other way and step backward we shall soon find ourselves in the bad place with the door locked and barred.

Thus Canada finds herself in the position of the confirmed drunkard who bobs up from the penitent bench at Prohibition revival meetings and proclaims that he has become a reformed drunkard. Canada a "horrible example." Canada is a reproach to the righteous people who are doing so well under Prohibition. And yet the man who first proclaimed Canada a "horrible example" morally is himself a "horrible example" both morally and politically. Mr. Drury has been a political outcast since the day the Farmers' Government of which he was for a time the chief was dissolved and defeated and its forces scattered to the political winds because its sins found it out and the people proclaimed it the rottenest government any part of Canada ever had.

NAVAL DISARMAMENT AND UNEMPLOYMENT

A dispatch published modestly in an obscure part of the paper says that Rt. Hon. Margaret Bondfield, Minister of Labor, told the Imperial House of Commons that the number of unemployed persons in Great Britain was more than half a million greater in the month of April this year than in the same month of last year. That was a disturbing statement for the Minister of Labor in a Government which confidently assured the people of Great Britain that its principal mission as a government would be to either end or relieve unemployment. The alarming increase in the registered list of the British unemployed may be attributed to two factors; to the large addition to the list of persons who are eligible for receipt of the dole and to the number of engineers and other artisans and seamen and office employees who have been thrown out of work as a result of the adoption of the naval disarmament and reduction programme.

A great deal has been said about the tremendous amount of money which would be saved to the taxpayers when international competition in shipbuilding was abolished; but there is another side to the question, and nothing has been said about that. When money was spent upon shipbuilding and in the maintenance of ships, there was at least "something to show for it." When money is distributed in doles there is nothing to show for it except an increased number of idle persons upon the streets.

The United States, one of the principal parties to the naval parity policy, is in quite a different position to the other principal party. As interpreted by officialdom in the United States, the agreement permits the construction of a large number of additional ships of a specified class. American Congressmen have been calculating how many hundreds of millions of dollars are available for the completion of their programme of construction. Under their side of the agreement employment will not be diminished but increased. Consequently there are two sides to the question of the benefits accruing from the lauded success of the naval disarmament conference. From the British point of view the ultimate results may be beneficial, but the immediate results undoubtedly have been almost disastrous.

PREMIER'S APOLOGY

You remember what the apocryphal stern parent said when administering a dose of necessary discipline to his son, "My boy, this hurts me more than it does you!" Mr. Dunning, speaking in the name of Mr. Mackenzie King, said in his budget speech, indirectly addressing Uncle Sam, "You were a good friend to me in my youth when circumstances made me an exile from my beloved native land. If circumstances have forced me to take some small measures for the defence of my country, rest assured that there is no resentment in my grateful heart against you. That which has been done is not my doing; it was thrust upon me by the aggressive Grits; and I already have told the world what I think of them. I have renounced my free trade principles and become a repentant protectionist, not for the sake of my country, which I love from the bottom of my heart, as my revered chieflain used to put it, but for the love of and pride in position, which I love from an even lower depth, from the bottom of my pocket!"

The President of the United States admits the business depression is a fact and not merely a state of mind, but explains that it might have been a worse depression and a more serious state of mind if the banking system had not been efficiently organized to meet it. The efficient banking system prevented a financial panic, and a panic is nothing but a state of mind. The depression in the United States has affected business in Canada, but not to the extent it has affected business in the United States; and there does not appear to be any part of Canada that has been less affected by the present state of business than the city of Victoria, which has more latent resources than any other place of its size on this continent.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN CANADA

(The Government, seeking to disclaim Federal responsibility for unemployment, compares American and Canadian figures.) It is not an answer to say that the United States, with high protection, has 3,000,000 unemployed. The United States has a population of 120,000,000 people, Canada of 10,000,000. What must be taken account of, therefore, is not the proportion of unemployed in both countries, but the fact that Canada, with resources almost as rich as those of the United States, and a territory almost as vast, is unable at the present time to support a population of 10,000,000. That, obviously, reveals something wrong. The truth is, and it cannot be argued away, that much of what is ours in natural resources is being used to provide employment in other lands. The character of our exports leaves no doubt as to that. In other words, we are selling too much material, the production of which provides little employment, buying too much material that is productive of considerable unemployment.—Ottawa Journal.

THE PARKING PROBLEM

The nuisance created by the parking of automobiles on public thoroughfares has been one of gradual growth. In the early days of the automobile, when the horseless carriages were few and far between, the parking of a car was of little moment. But today a stationary car at the curb may easily create a blockade as long as a city block. This is a nuisance which is greatly aggravated on streets on which there is street car traffic. Though a pedestrian who blocked sidewalk traffic would at once be moved on by a policeman, the motorist may more effectively block the roadway with impunity. It is time that the public generally accepted the fact that the roadway is an artery and not a stable. It is intolerable that a single motorist should pre-empt fifty-four square feet of pavement to the demoralization of traffic while, perhaps, he is indulging in the luxury of a shave in an adjacent barber shop. Thoughtless selfishness has abused a privilege which it now demands as a right.—Toronto Telegram.

A solemn and religious regard to spiritual and eternal things is an indispensable element of all true greatness.—Daniel Webster.

BASS FISHING

Sir—I was interested to read your correspondent's letter on bass fishing. I have resided at Langford Lakeside for the past three years and am interested in the fishing both as a private individual and also from a business point of view. Each year different regulations have been framed, culminating last season in the ridiculous.

During the spawning season the fishing was opened, only to be closed when the fish were at their best. Several tourists came here for the fishing only to be informed that the fishing was closed.

It has become an annual joke round the lake as to what will happen next season. Possibly we shall be allowed to fish for a month at Christmas when, if we have luck and the lake is again frozen over, sport and money may have the thrill of catching the cunning bass through the ice.

OBJECTIONS TO PLAY

Sir,—The following should prove of interest to this city. In reference to the University Players' "Friend Hannah," sponsored by the Kiwanians, The Colonist of April 29, many wonder why this version of Hannah Lightfoot's marriage to the Prince of Wales was chosen, when an authentic British statement (book) could be purchased for sixteen shillings. It would appear that they fail to recognize the obligation of rank and many foreigners, including eighty Americans, Aeschylus' drama was presented in modern Greek as a feature of the centenary of Greece's independence.

Eva Palmer Sikelianos, daughter of Courtland Palmer, of New York, who with her husband, celebrated Greek poet, was primarily responsible for the brilliant and artistic achievement, was warmly embraced by Venizelos, and was raised aloft by enthusiastic soldiers costumed in white skirts.

CULTURAL CONTRIBUTION
The Delphic festival is expected to play the same role in Greek cultural life as Oberammergau in religion.

"Prometheus Bound" yesterday aroused the feelings of the spectators by the profundity of human experience dramatized and the extraordinary setting. The Delphic acoustics are unsurpassed by any man-made theatre. The proteolytic accompanying "Prometheus" disappeared reverberated through the Phrygian mountains with the grandeur of the greatest days of the Greek drama. Beautiful Athenian maidens garbed in hand-made robes made a stunning chorus.

Today, "Suppliants" will be produced for the first time in twenty-four centuries. Mr. Robert P. Skinner, American minister, and Mr. Henry Morgenthau, former envoy to Greece and chairman of the Greek Refugee Settlement Commission, will be among the spectators, and other prominent Americans are expected to see the second and third performances next week. With a large French delegation, they fill all the peasant houses in this tiny shepherd village, while others are living in a boat in Rea harbor.

GREEK DRAMA IS REVIVED

Delphic Festival Proves Feature of Centenary of Greece's Independence at Grand Fete

MANY FOREIGNERS WITNESS SPECTACLE

By CARROLL BROWNE
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

DELPHI, Greece, May 2.—Delphi's ancient theatre here on the slopes of Mt. Parnassus in Phocis, now the scene of the Delphic festival, yesterday echoed the majestic lines of "Prometheus Bound" for the second time in twenty centuries.

In the presence of Premier Eleutherios Venizelos and his cabinet and many foreigners, including eighty Americans, Aeschylus' drama was presented in modern Greek as a feature of the centenary of Greece's independence.

Eva Palmer Sikelianos, daughter of Courtland Palmer, of New York, who with her husband, celebrated Greek poet, was primarily responsible for the brilliant and artistic achievement, was warmly embraced by Venizelos, and was raised aloft by enthusiastic soldiers costumed in white skirts.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of May 3, 1880.)

Attention was drawn in the Legislature yesterday to the fact that no appropriation had been made for the establishment of a women factory. This had been done, said Mr. Smith, in spite of the unanimous vote of the House. The first and of the Victoria-Tale railway will be turned on May 24. The condition of Hon. George Brown is reported from Toronto to be precarious. Mr. John Kenny, of Nanaimo, has been appointed Inspector of Weights and Measures for this province.

FUNDS NEEDED TO SUPERVISE PLAYING AREAS

Boys' Work Secretary of Y.M.C.A. Tells Service Club Council Delegates of Proposal

CO-ORDINATED ACTION IS MOST ESSENTIAL

The Y.M.C.A. is willing to undertake active supervision, in conjunction with any other organization, or group of organizations, interested in getting the most out of the playing facilities provided in the parks and playgrounds of the city. Mr. Vivian Shoemaker, boys' work secretary, told delegates from the various service clubs of the city at the meeting of the Service Club Council held yesterday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce.

The Y.M.C.A. would find the staff and direction, pooling resources, if agreeable, and enlarge the scope of the supervision which the city has maintained to a limited extent in past years, and make the movement city-wide, with an appeal to groups of all ages. To take care of the work proposed to be carried on throughout the summer months of this year, Mr. Shoemaker told the meeting that $550 would be required, of which the city of Victoria would provide $100. The balance would be necessary for the purchase of equipment and the payment of active supervisors. The objective of the Y.M.C.A. was to see the movement for a systematized supervision of playgrounds properly started, when the city could take over its administration if the council so desired.

Discussing Mr. Shoemaker's appeal for co-ordinated action and the necessary funds to put the plan in operation, the delegates finally decided that, if the various Parent-Teacher Associations of the city would find half of the amount required, the service clubs which they represented would undoubtedly be willing to produce the other half. All of the service clubs in the city were represented at yesterday's meeting. Mrs. Wigley, of the Kumukis Club, occupying the chair, discussed the unavoidable absence from the city of the chairman, Mr. Alfred Carmichael.

GIVES TALK ON SPORTSMANSHIP

Mr. Percy Watson Speaks to St. Louis College Welfare Association

"Sport and Sportsmanship" was the subject of the address given by Mr. Percy Watson to the students of St. Ann's Academy on Thursday evening before the members of the St. Louis College Welfare Association and friends.

Rev. Father C. E. Evans, rector of St. Andrew's Cathedral, introduced Mr. Watson, who sketched the history of athletics from the first Olympiad, 750 B.C. For a period of 1500 years the Olympic games were forbidden, to be revived again in 1896. In Canada the nearest approach to a national game was the same of lacrosse originating with the Indians. The history of the rules of cricket in England were referred to with appreciation. The natural inclination in all normal, healthy boys was to play; directing the natural bent of the child to useful purpose was important, as was the proper employment of leisure under direction and organization. Mr. Watson made a plea for an active interest on the part of parents, particularly the fathers of boys.

Universities, schools and colleges, big business firms and various organizations were all realizing the importance of sport and games, bringing together of the individuals in groups for healthy competition, which deters the spirit of disorganization. The success of the Adanac basketball team was cited as a fair example of provincial, interprovincial and national championships.

A programme was contributed to the evening's entertainment by the boys of St. Louis College, who sang several of the junior boys gave a sailors' hornpipe and an Irish jig, and the school orchestra, conducted by Brother Russell, which is showing improvement, played two numbers. Jack Hickey was heard with pleasure in "Hark, Hark, the Lark," and Willie Fletcher played a cornet solo, accompanied by his sister, Lenore. "Mary's Garden," a dance arranged by five little girls under the direction of Anna Byron, was appreciated from its spontaneous character. Rev. Father Evans, speaking for the welfare association, told of their aims and plans for the building of the new school.

at sixteen with portfolios, and one, Senator Raoul Dandurand, without. The Prime Minister avoided any statement on his choice for the new portfolio of Minister of Fisheries. Resolutions for the creation of a new ministry of fisheries, at a salary of $10,000 per annum, and providing for the separation of the Department of Marine and Fisheries were adopted and bills based on them were given first reading.

Sir George Perley, Conservative, Argenteuil, protested against any increase in the number of ministers, though he believed the Department of Fisheries was entitled to a separate minister.

Mr. J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg North Centre, advocated the British system of fewer ministers, but with under-secretaries.

The Prime Minister remarked that the Dominion might get along with fewer ministers if the ministers did not have to spend so much time in Parliament.

In sponsoring the measures, Premier King recalled that among the recommendations of the Duncan commission was one for the appointment of a deputy minister of fisheries as distinguished from a deputy minister of marine and fisheries.

Our First Birthday!

THE METROPOLITAN STORE in Victoria will be one year old on the 5th of May . . . Our First Birthday. Factors which have also materially contributed to the success of our first year in business are: the loyal and efficient co-operation of our staff, and the prompt and satisfactory service which we have received from the manufacturers of Victoria and Vancouver.

As a mark of appreciation for the patronage accorded the Metropolitan Store in its first year of operation, the week of May 5 to 10 will celebrate our Anniversary Sale with values in all departments that will come as an agreeable surprise. We cordially invite your attendance this coming week.

For current hospital visiting, Mrs. Sayer and Mrs. McManus reported very briefly.

University Head's Visit to Germany Aids World Peace

By E. A. MOWBRER (Copyright, 1929, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

BERLIN, Germany, May 2.—European federation, spiritual acceptance of the Kellogg Pact with its logical consequences of disarmament and a new viewpoint on international tolerance and the advantages of world diversity—these are the chief points defended by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, in a series of speeches delivered here in the last few days.

Dr. Butler came to Germany as the guest of the committee for international understanding, and will remain for a few days. These days are literally filled with speeches. There are still a number of Germans who remember with some bitterness Dr. Butler's extreme anti-Germanism during the war. But the tone of his speeches, moderation of his remarks and sincerity of his desire for international peace and understanding have gone far to wipe out any lingering animosity.

There is no doubt but that his visit has been a real contribution toward world peace.

FARMERS RAP NEW BUDGET

Maintain It Is Strongly Protectionist and Retaliation Is Only Subterfuge

THINK IT CARRIES ON WAR OF TARIFF

SASKATOON, Sask., May 2.—The United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, issued the following statement today:

"The United Farmers of Canada are disappointed with the Liberal budget just announced. We are disappointed with it in general, because it is anything but a free trade budget and our organization stands for free trade. We are disappointed with it because, whilst it pretends to make reductions on foodstuffs, it increases the tariffs on fruits, vegetables, beans, etc. We are disappointed with it because, whilst it pretends not to be a retaliatory budget against the United States, it decides to carry on a tariff war by means of its countervailing duties."

"With regard to the British preference, we cannot say definitely until we have seen the debate on the proposed motion by Mr. Fanshawe, and the Government's attitude towards his suggestion for a general increase in the British preference until we have complete free trade with Great Britain in five years. (B. Fanshawe is Progressive member for Lambton East.)"

"Finally, we are disappointed with the budget because the minister makes no definite statement with regard to his tariff policy, whether the Government is moving towards complete free trade or is merely continuing to put the tariff up a little here and down a little there and thus carry on the same tactics as the Conservatives."

"I don't care what you say," said the landlady, "you're not leaving this house until your bill is paid."

"Ah, well, I suppose I must make the best of it. What's this town like at Whillans?"

The characters in the drama follow: Michael Gordon, Dr. Clem Davies; Gertrude Gordon, his wife, Carrie A. MacMillan; James Gordon, dead soldier, A. D. Davies; Mary Dodd, his fiancée, Phyllis Deaville; Mr. Fenton, John E. Fuller; Col. Scoville, Capt. Burges J. Gadsden. Has Curious Carvings

Easyby Abbey, Yorkshire

THE abbey and village of Easyby are picturesquely situated on the banks of the river Swale, two miles from the town of Richmond. One of the most beautiful features still remaining of the abbey, which was built shortly after 1152, is the great window of the refectory—a building which dates from the reign of Edward III. On the abbey side of the cloister is a remarkable circular Norman doorway, enriched with fantastic decorations. It rests upon a cluster of round columns with sculptured capitals, and is curiously adorned with cats' heads, the tongues of which are hanging out and curled at the extremities. Above all is an elegant moulding of foliage. Near the portal is a great tree which is still called "the abbey's elm."

In the afternoon the meeting will be held at 2:30 o'clock, in the schoolroom, when Mrs. J. W. Saunby will tell a story or two of Japan, where she spent many years. Old friends of Centennial who attended this Sunday school long ago, parents of children now attending, and all lovers of Christian work among boys and girls are cordially invited to both these meetings. In the evening, following his completed series on the decalogue, Mr. Pringle will take "The Eleventh Commandment" as his theme. The choir will render suitable music at both services. LADY MINTO HOSPITAL HAS ACTIVE YEAR

Institution at Ganges Finds Wide Field for Usefulness at Salt Spring Island

ANNUAL MEETING HEARS REPORTS

SALT SPRING ISLAND, May 2.—The sixteenth annual meeting of the Lady Minto Hospital took place last Wednesday at the Mahon Hall, Ganges. There was a good attendance. The president, Rev. J. W. Flinton, was in the chair. Amongst the business an entirely new constitution was adopted, following the lines of other small hospitals and made suitable to local conditions. A most satisfactory year was reported.

There has been an increase in Government grants from the year 1928-29 to 1929-30 of $48.25. Liquor Board profits have dropped from $387.75 to $307. Patients' fees increased by $37.42, annual subscriptions from $1,079.40 to $1,484.10, donations from $299.20 to $610.24. Recently an electric light plant has been installed in the hospital, the total cost of which was $1,227.80, the Government donating $500 towards this, and earlier in the year there was also a special grant from the Provincial Government of $500, which enabled the board of management to clear up all outstanding accounts. The amount paid out for maintenance and repairs during 1929-30 is considerably greater than that of the previous year, but this is accounted for by the fact that $126.74 owing for furnace repairs was paid off during this year, also a thorough overhauling of the plumbing system of the hospital was carried out at a cost of about $100. Outside these items the expenditure is really less than that of the previous year. The hospital days have increased from 1,117 to 1,567, and the per capita dropped from $4.12 to $3.87. The subscribers' list shows an advance over the previous year, there being 218 adults and eighty children up to date. The directors appointed for the incoming year, with one exception are the same as those of 1929. Committee, Rev. J. W. Flinton, Messrs. Ed. Waller, T. F. Speed, W. M. Monk, J. Horel, L. Chaplin, Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Charlesworth, Mrs. Purdy, Mrs. A. J. Eaton having resigned, Mr. Stuart Holmes was appointed in her place.

ST. JOHN'S BOYS' CLUB IS FORMED

COLWOOD, May 2.—At a meeting held in the Colwood Hall on Thursday, May 1, the St. John's Boys' Club of Colwood and district was formed. There was a good attendance of members and friends. Mr. G. A. Turner acted as chairman.

It was moved by Frank Green, seconded by Raymond Stevens, that the club be called St. John's Boys' Club.

The following officers were elected: R. W. Robinson, manager; Rev. A. L. Nixon, hon. president; Mr. G. A. Turner, Captain James R.N., Mr. J. T. Bruce, Mr. Johnson (Metchin), vice-presidents; patrons: The present new members of St. John's Church committee.

CHINESE WILL SHORTLY HAVE "LEGAL" GOVT.

A New Stable Regime Will Be Formed in Peiping to Meet the Wishes of the People

CONFERENCE TO BE CONVENED QUICKLY

By JAMES L. BUTTS (Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

PEIPING, China, May 2.—A new "legal" Government will shortly be formed in Peiping, declared Tsung Tse-Siang, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs and spokesman for the Northern Anti-Nanking Alliance today.

The formation will follow a conference of members of the second nominating congress, convened in 1928, a number of whom have already arrived. Members of the third or last congress are considered to have been illegally assembled and manipulated by President Chiang Kai-Shek.

Tsung Tse-Siang expects the conference to meet within a month. Its programme apparently envisages General Yen Hsi-shan, foremost in the Northern combination, as Government head, with the "Christian General" Feng Yu-Hsiang as military head, and Wang Ching-wei, Kuomintang Leftist leader, in control of party affairs.

The spokesman declared that representative Kuomintang leaders in fourteen provinces are now pledged to support General Yen's programme, sinking all personal differences and agreeing to organize an integral party in which all factions will be represented.

"Marshal Yen rejects the idea of a military or provisional Government," declared Tsung Tse-Siang. "He wants a new legal and stable Government in order to meet the people's wishes. He and the party leaders agree that such a Government must be organized and established in Peiping on a solid basis, with all the necessary formal procedure."

The commissioner denounced Nanking's "corruption," declaring that during the last two years Nanking contracted debts exceeding the total amount for the seventeen previous years of the Republic—money which was utterly wasted. He also declared that Nanking was responsible for the recent Sino-Russian conflict in Manchuria, hoping to utilize Russia to weaken the Manchurian party. He blamed Nanking for the present widespread bandit depredations within the so-called Nationalist territory.

PERSONAL AGGRANDIZEMENT—General Chiang Kai-Shek has spent millions equipping his armies, but only for personal aggrandizement, while lives and property within his jurisdiction are unprotected," Tsung charged. "It is a deplorable fact that bandit troubles have been seriously been dealt with by the Nanking Government."

The allied chiefs, Yen Hsi-shan and Feng Yu-Hsiang, are conferring today in Hsinghsiang, Honan Province, with the purpose of completing their military plans. It is reliably reported that General Chiang Kai-Shek sent emissaries seeking a separate peace with Feng Yu-Hsiang, who rejected the proposal, refusing to take part in any discussion with Nanking until Chiang Kai-Shek resigns. The emissaries are reported to have replied that this was "possible" if a face-saving method of withdrawal could be devised.

Contrast of Transportation on Protection Island in 1792 and 1930

The incident of the Alaska Washington Airways' pilot dropping a paper each day for the benefit of a lone resident of Protection Island, who he passed over it on his daily flight, caused Mr. C. C. Pemberton, local historian, to contrast present-day transportation methods with those prevailing when the island was first discovered 138 years ago, and particularly the craft commanded by Captain Vancouver when he arrived in Port Discovery and landed on the island. The date was May 1, 1792, and in connection with it, Mr. Pemberton supplied the following interesting account of the island, taken from Memoir No. 5, Archives of British Columbia, being Menzies' Journal of Vancouver's Voyages:

"The ships anchored off Dungeness, April 30. "Next morning being May 1, I accompanied Captain Vancouver and some of the officers of both vessels, who set out pretty early in two boats from us, and one from the Chatham, to examine the shores to the east of us for a harbor. "When we left the vessels it was a little foggy and calm; but clearing up soon after, the place became exceedingly pleasant and serene, which added not a little to our enjoyment in this day's excursion. We kept along shore to the southwest, starting on our way vast flights of waterfowl, such as ducks, divers, and wild geese, which were so exceedingly shy that the sportsmen had very little opportunity of showing their dexterity. After a row of about four leagues, we came to an island, the rural appearance of which strongly invited us to stretch our limbs after our long confined situation on board, and the dreary sameness of a tedious voyage. Its northwest side was guarded by a high, naked, perpendicular cliff of reddish earth and sand, quite inaccessible; but the south side presented a sloping bank covered with green turf so even and regular as if it had been artificially formed.

"We found on landing that vegetation had already made great progress. The shore was skirted with long grass and a variety of wild flowers were in full bloom. But what chiefly dazzled our eyes on this occasion was the small species of wild valerian, with reddish-colored flowers growing behind the beach in thick patches.

"On ascending the bank to the summit of the island a rich lawn, beautified with Nature's luxuriant bounties, burst at once on our view and impressed us with no less pleasure than novelty. It was abundantly cropped with a variety of grass clover and wild flowers, here and there adorned by aged pines with wide-spreading horizontal boughs, and well-sheltered by a strip of them densely coped with underwood stretching along the summit of the steep sandy cliff, the whole seeming as if it had been laid out from the premeditated plan of a judicious designer.

"To the northward and north-westward the eye roved over a wide expanse of water which seemed to penetrate a different land through various openings and windings. Looking in the directions indicated, Mr. Pemberton pointed out that the adventurers would be looking across to Vancouver Island and the adjacent islands lying between the Strait of Juan de Fuca and the Gulf of Georgia.

The indignant lady had just recognized the street beggar she habitually patronized. He was climbing into an expensive automobile. "What!" she gasped. "You own this! And beg!" "Yes, lady," he admitted. "It's the only way I can keep it up."

Central Site Is Chosen for Circus At Esquimalt

Conklin & Garrett's circus, which will perform in Esquimalt from May 12-17 under the auspices of the Esquimalt Friendly Help Association, will occupy a site at Buller's Park. This decision was reached at a special meeting of the Esquimalt Council held last night.

The circus was to occupy the same grounds as last year, and then its site was changed at the last regular meeting of the council to the corner of Wilson and Macaulay Streets. Opposition sprung up regarding the naming of the last mentioned site, and to settle the matter Reeve James Erick called a special meeting.

After a lengthy discussion it was the unanimous choice of the councillors that Buller's Park would make an ideal spot for the circus.

Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Reported to Be Involved in Large Merger

SINGLE CONTROL IN DOMINION PLANNED

NEW YORK, May 2.—The Herald Tribune today publishes a story from its Montreal correspondent predicting a huge all-mail service merger involving, in all probability, both the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways, besides the Aviation Corporation of Canada and Western Canada Airways.

The story says that merger rumors, current for over a year, have been given new life by the report that a controlling interest in Western Canada Airways has been offered to the Canadian Pacific Railway.

It is pointed out that already several companies in the East have come under the control of the Aviation Corporation of Canada, while Western Canada Airways has established itself as the chief air transport agency in the West. These two steps are taken as an indication that further developments will occur to link air transportation under a single control right across the country. The story goes on to say that the control may take the form of a holding company subsidized by the Dominion Government.

Spends Fifteen Minutes in Air Without Motion

LEAVING Lake Union at 3:05 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mr. Percy Barnes, pilot of the Seattle mail plane Zephyr, did not arrive in the harbor until 4:30 o'clock, so strong was the wind. In describing it as one of his hardest trips for five years, Mr. Barnes said he had his motor running at top speed when over Dungeness Spit and for fifteen minutes hardly moved. He loaded fifteen bags of mail from the inbound President Grant, and will leave port early this morning. Mr. K. L. Swinton, Seattle customs broker, and Mr. H. M. Pike, Seattle advertising man, accompanied Mr. Barnes to Victoria.

This conclusion is reached as a result of reluctance of the railways to engage in aviation projects. It is thought that the railways, however, would be drawn into the nationalization of airways through the necessity for air-mail connections, without assuming financial responsibility for the maintenance of the airways themselves.

Jim the Conqueror

SYNOPSIS
Don Jaime Miguel Higuera, the owner of a ranch in Texas, is having difficulty with a shepherd, who is being driven to the bitter end and has been declared by the Texas Rangers. Don Jaime, who is a man of a different kind, is determined to see that his property is protected. He has a picture of a man in a suit and a picture of a man in a suit and a picture of a man in a suit.

CHAPTER VII

Ken Hobart carried Don Jaime out to the clean grass in the draw and examined his wounds with the skill of one to whom wounds are no mystery. "Top shoulder ripped and possibly a piece drilled out of the scapula. Hole through the left elbow, but the humerus is not touched. Leg wound is nothing to write home about. All flesh wounds; blood welling slowly. It will probably coagulate and quit in a little while," he announced casually.

He brought iodine, bandages and adhesive tape from his saddle-bags, for, like all of his profession, he had frequent need of such things and was not a half-bad backwoods surgeon. When his wounds were dressed, Don Jaime stood erect and gingerly rested his weight on his injured leg. "Not any worse than a badly sprained ankle," he rejoiced, "and I've walked miles on one of them. . . . Well, let's have a look at the sassy old sheep-herder."

With Hobart's assistance he mounted his horse and together they rode up the opposite slope and gazed down at the dead man. "I could see a small glint of something white," Don Jaime explained. "After I fired the first time, I figured it might be his face, so I pecked away at it."

"I never knew a man with Spanish blood in his veins who wasn't ferocious," the ranger declared. "I'm not ferocious. I'm practical. Ken, I want to keep on shooting to show any other bushwhackers who might be in on the job that I was armed and dangerous. And I thought, a lot of shooting might bring some of those herders from over yonder and I'd get enough for a mess. And why waste my shot?"

"Well, your extravagance with ammunition is what brought me to the scene. I'd ridden about half a mile from where it happened when it occurred to me that Antrim and his camp could easily have heard you directing me to have one of the boys come to Los Algodones with the auto and the trailer to bring your horse home. Remember? You shouted, 'So he'd know you were traveling across country alone and unarmed—for of course he could not know that as a mere matter of precaution you had borrowed my rifle. I just got a new one. It would be like the old scoundrel to follow and bushwhack you. He could be reasonably certain there would be no witnesses.'"

Don Jaime gazed down at the grisly thing in the bushes. "Looks like Antrim—all but the face," he agreed. "Frick him, Ken, in your capacity as a peace officer, and see what luck we have."

So the ranger turned the dead man's pockets inside out, and in the coat pocket he found a black seal-leather wallet bearing on the outside the words in gold letters: "Thomas Antrim, Christmas, 1928." "Somebody, strange as it may seem, actually thought enough of this man to give him a Christmas present," the ranger murmured. "Here's a photo post-card addressed to Thomas Antrim, Jolon, Las Cruces County, Texas. Picture of a girl taken at Atlantic City. Now where have I seen that face before?"

He handed the card up to Don Jaime, who studied it briefly and handed it back. "Miss Roberta Antrim, of Hillcrest, Dobbs Ferry, Westchester County, New York," he announced grimly. "So she was a relative of his after all." He sighed. "What else, old-timer?"

"A letter in an envelope." "As a peace officer, you have a right to read it." The ranger complied with Don Jaime's suggestion. "Brief letter from Roberta Antrim, addressed to 'Dear Uncle Tom,' and thanking him for sending her a check for five dollars for the Babes' Hospital." "He gave up all of one lamb, didn't he? Generous man!"

"Here's a card that says: 'In case of death or accident please notify my next-of-kin, Miss Roberta Antrim.'"

STOP CONSTIPATION AT THE START

You May Pay If You Don't

When you realize that about 90% of all sickness begins with constipation, you won't want to take chances. If you have the symptoms—bad breath, coated tongue, always tired—put a stop to them now!

But do it the natural way. Not with pills and drugs, which give but temporary relief and must be taken in increasing doses. Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—an appetizing, deliciously flavored cereal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN sweeps the system clean of wastes and impurities. Its action is natural; the roughage carries with it the poisons which clog your system.

In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in iron. Scientific research shows that nearly all this iron goes into the blood, making it give the rich glow of healthy color. You'll like ALL-BRAN. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream, or with honey added. Physicians recommend it. And we guarantee it to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. Two tablespoons daily—with every meal, in recurring cases.

Start now! Today, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers in the red-and-green package. Served in hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

triumph. Well, it sort of looks like old Tom's made a mess of things. He was too old to have attempted to do this job himself. His eyes probably weren't as good as they used to be, and when a fellow takes to bushwhacking he ought to be reasonably fast and accurate with a rifle. When you borrowed my rifle you sort of spilled old Tom's beans, Don Jaime."

"His sheep we still have with us, also his foreman and shepherders," Don Jaime announced thoughtfully. "I suppose his sheep are the property of his next-of-kin, and Heaven forbid that I should wage war on a woman. Ken, my friend, I think we'll defer the war of the water-holes. The sensible thing to do now is to wire Miss Roberta Antrim to get her here on the job, and look after the assets of her late Uncle Tom. She's a lady. She'll probably listen to reason and we'll get rid of these thinking machines and quit in a bloodshed. They'll ruin a lot of the range in the interim, of course. Oh, let 'em drink! If we shoot them now they'll die, and that would be putting a crimp in the lady's bankroll."

"Whatever else we may be, let us, at least, try to be gentlemen," the ranger agreed humorously. "Well, now, the next business before the meeting is to find old Tom's horse, drape Thomas across the saddle, take him into Los Algodones and deliver him to the local undertaker. My report on this affair will close the investigation. And you should get to a doctor. It's ten miles to your ranch and ten miles to Los Algodones. I'm in command! All aboard for Los Algodones, amigos mio!"

They had proceeded but a short distance along the road to Los Algodones when they were overtaken by a man driving an old automobile that had been converted into a truck. The ranger rode his horse into the middle of the road and held up his hand. The vehicle stopped. The ranger looked at the driver over. "I know you," he announced. "Aren't you Tom Antrim's cook?"

The man glanced from the ranger to Antrim's horse, with Antrim's limp body hanging across the saddle; his dark face paled as he saw the dead man's head bundled up in his canvas coat.

"What's happened?" he cried. "That dead man's my boss, ain't he?"

"He used to be. He rode out in a hurry shortly after I was there, one may remember. Well, his mission was to circle around Senor Higuera, waylay and murder him. He tried very hard to succeed, as you may judge by casual inspection of Senor Higuera, but somehow his proposition backfired and now he's on his way to the undertaker. I suppose you're bound for Los Algodones for supplies?"

The man nodded, his eyes still on all that was mortal of the man who had paid him well for doing very indifferent cooking. "Well, suppose we dispose Antrim's body on your truck. Don Jaime will ride on the seat beside you and I'll sit on back with the corpse and lead the two horses. You got a gun on you?"

"Yes, sir."

"Give it to me. You might be tempted to use it on Don Jaime. Hop out now and pay the last and tribute of love to your late boss."

"I don't think I'll go to Los Algodones after all, ranger. The boys ought to be notified of this killing."

"You'll go. I desire it, my friend."

"Yes, sir."

I don't feel like having my friends organize a reprisal raid on the Rancho Valle Verde, until I'm there to receive them." Hobart placed Antrim's body in the box of the car and lifted Don Jaime down from his horse and deposited him beside the driver, after which he seated himself in the rear of the car and held the leading ropes of the three horses. At a speed of seven or eight miles an hour they proceeded to Los Algodones, where Hobart turned Antrim's body over to the coroner and made his report to the sheriff, having first seen Don Jaime in bed at the hotel with a doctor in charge of him.

About an hour later a coroner's jury trooped into Don Jaime's room and listened to his story of the killing. The ranger added his testimony, and the foreman of the jury looked at his fellow jurors.

"Don't seem to be anything mysterious about this case, boys," he announced. "All that in favor of rendering a verdict of suicide held up their right hands. All up? We, the jury find that the deceased came to his death at the hands of Don Jaime Miguel Higuera and that the said Higuera acted in self-defense and cannot be charged with any crime worse than justifiable homicide."

The jury retired, and Ken Hobart returned to his employer.

"Well, I've wired my resignation. It ought to reach the governor before the office closes, and his wire of acceptance will come to me in your care. I've hired an automobile at your expense, Don Jaime, and am on my way to the ranch. I'll send the trailer in after our horses in the morning. They're at the ranch headquarters. That cook of Antrim's is bound to have taken the news out to his people. . . . I'd better be at the ranch in the event of hostilities. The wildest sheep-herder will generally listen to reason from a ranger—and I'll be a ranger until my resignation is accepted and I have turned in my shield."

Don Jaime held out a telegram to him. "Please file that as you go out, Ken. The doctor has sent to El Paso for a trained nurse and as soon as she arrives I'll go out to the ranch and recuperate. All I require is an expert to dress these punctures and keep an eye out for possible infection. As for those sheep—I mean sheep—tell Antrim's foreman to restrict them to the country south of the Arroyo San Diego. The feed there isn't so attractive to my cattle. anyhow, but sheep can make a living there. Adios, mi buen companero."

British Farmers Are Not Against Canadian Wheat

REGINA, Sask., May 2.—Farmers of Britain raise no objection to importation of Canadian wheat, states Warner Baxter, of Birmingham, past president of the National Farmers' Union of Great Britain. "The farmers of Britain are ready to fight any farmer of the world in a fair market."

MEN NOW WORKING

THE PAS. Man, May 2.—Unemployment decreased substantially today with men departing for the North to work at ballasting on the Hudson Bay Railway. Eighty men were en route along the line to take up new jobs. More than 500 jobs are still stated to be seeking work, however.
